

It is no longer necessary to incur the time, money and inconvenience of traveling to remote depositions with today's video conferencing technology. With Grove & Associates' high -definition system, it is like being in the room with the deponent. It is also handy for meeting or screening potential experts. The people at Grove & Associates are knowledgeable, efficient and accommodating. They have access to video conference rooms across the country and they are always willing to host my video conferences, no matter how early we start or how late we go. You make the phone call, they do the rest. My suggestion: do the deposition by video at Grove, and then go home and see your family at night.
